Physical Description: The capitals of the niches are made up of groups of animals. from south to north: 1. (single capital) a squirrel, and an antelope about to be attacked by two leopards; 2. (double capital) a mythical (?) rhino-like creature, an elephant, an antelope (?) and two lions; 3. (double capital) two birds, lions attacking snakes, and a hare; 4. (single capital) a family of goats.

Person or event commemorated: The animals represent the Vices, in contrast to the Virtues in the niches. The antelope in the first capital represents the Vice of Self-Indulgence as it feeds heedless of the leopards.
